

* I-IV: KNOWING THE MYSTERY IN THE BIBLE

- I. In the Bible a mystery refers not only to things that are hidden and unknown but also to things that are hidden in God's heart; this is the principle concerning the mysteries mentioned in the Bible—Mark 4:11; Rom. 16:25-26; Col. 1:26-27; 2:2; 4:3; Eph. 1:9; 3:3-4, 9; 5:32; 6:19.
 - II. Colossians 2:2 says, “The mystery of God, Christ”; the mystery of God is manifested in Christ, so Christ is the mystery of God
 - III. There are five great mysteries in the Bible:
 - A. The mystery of the universe is God, who is the meaning and purpose of the universe—Gen. 1:1; Rev. 4:11; Eph. 3:9.
 - B. The mystery of man is also God—Gen. 1:26; Zech. 12:1; 1 Cor. 2:11.
 - C. The mystery of God is Christ—Col. 2:2.
 - D. The mystery of Christ is the church—Eph. 3:4; Col. 4:3.
 - E. The mystery of the church is the organism of Christ, the Body of Christ as the enlargement of Christ—Eph. 1:22-23; 4:4, 16; 5:30, 32.
 - IV. In Ephesians mystery is a crucial word:
 - A. In eternity God planned a will, but it was hidden in Him; it was a mystery—Eph. 1:9.
 - B. God's hidden purpose is the mystery, and the unveiling of this mystery in the mingled spirit is the revelation of the mystery—Eph. 3:3, 5.
 - C. God's mystery is His hidden purpose, and with this mystery there is an economy—the economy of the mystery—Eph. 3:9.
 - D. Christ is a mystery, and the church, as the Body of Christ to express Him, is the mystery of Christ—Eph. 3:4; Col. 4:3.
 - E. Christ and the church as one spirit are the great mystery—1 Cor. 6:17; Eph. 5:32.
- * V-VII: KNOWING AND EXPERIENCE CHRIST AS THE MYSTERY OF GOD AND THE FULLNESS OF GOD
- V. The all-inclusive Christ is the mystery of God—Col. 2:2:
 - A. God Himself is a mystery, and Christ is the mystery of this mystery.
 - B. The mystery of God indicates something incomprehensible and inexplicable.
 - C. As the mystery of God, the all-inclusive, extensive Christ is the definition, explanation, and expression of God—the Word of God—John 1:1, 14:
 - Although God is infinite and eternal, without beginning or ending, He also has a history, a story—Rom. 16:26; Psa. 90:2.
 - The all-inclusive, extensive Christ—the mystery of God, the mysterious story of God—is the history of God.
 - God's history refers to the process through which He passed in Christ so that He may enter into us, and we may be brought into Him; this process includes incarnation, human living, crucifixion, resurrection, ascension, glorification, and enthronement—John 1:12-14, 29; 3:14; 12:24; 14:20.
 - D. In this all-inclusive, extensive Christ as the mystery of God, all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hidden—Col. 2:3:
 - Wisdom is related to our spirit, and knowledge is related to our mind—Eph. 1:8, 17.
 - God is the unique source of wisdom and knowledge—Rom. 16:27; 11:33.
 - This is the spiritual wisdom and knowledge of the divine economy concerning Christ and the church—Eph. 1:10; 3:9; 5:32.
 - Wisdom and knowledge also refer to all the “stories” of God.
 - All the wisdom and knowledge pertaining to God's stories are hidden in Christ, who is the mystery of God—Col. 2:2-3.

VI. As the mystery of God, Christ is the embodiment of the fullness of the Godhead—Col. 2:9:

- A. All the fullness of the Godhead refers to the entire Godhead, the complete God—Col. 2:9:
 - The word Godhead refers to deity and strongly indicates the deity of Christ.
 - Since the Godhead comprises the Father, the Son, and the Spirit, the fullness of the Godhead must be the fullness of the Father, the Son, and the Spirit—Matt. 28:19; 2 Cor. 13:14.
 - For Christ to be the embodiment of the fullness of the Godhead means that the fullness of the Triune God dwells in Christ in a bodily form—
 - This implies the physical body that Christ put on in His humanity, and it indicates that all the fullness of the Godhead dwells in Christ as the One who has a human body—John 1:14; Rom. 8:3; Heb. 2:14.
 - Before His incarnation the fullness of the Godhead dwelt in Christ as the eternal Word, but it did not dwell in Him bodily—John 1:1.
 - After He became incarnate, clothed with a human body, the fullness of the Godhead began to dwell in Him in a bodily way, and in His glorified body now and forever it dwells—Phil. 3:21.
- B. Fullness in Colossians 2:9 refers not to the riches of God but to the expression of the riches of God:
 - The riches are the quantity of an object, whereas the fullness is the flowing out, the overflow, of the object to become the expression of the object.
 - What dwells in Christ is not only the riches of the Godhead but also the expression of the riches of what God is:
 - God's fullness is the overflow of His riches, and this overflow is God's expression.
 - The fullness of the Godhead is the expression of the Godhead, the expression of what God is.
 - The Godhead is expressed both in the old creation, the universe, and in the new creation, the church—Col. 1:15, 18.
- C. When the Son of God was incarnated as a man, with Him was the fullness of God, and of this fullness we have all received—John 1:14, 16:
 - In John 1:16 grace does not refer to the riches of grace but to the fullness of grace; the riches of grace are in God, but the fullness of grace is in Christ Jesus—Col. 2:9.
 - The grace we receive is the fullness of grace; beginning from the time we are saved, we may receive grace upon grace.
 - The phrase grace upon grace in John 1:16 can be compared to the rolling waves of the sea that come in wave upon wave without ceasing.

VII. As believers in Christ, we are made full in Christ, in whom all the fullness of the Godhead dwells bodily—Col. 2:9-10:

- A. The Greek word translated "full" in verse 10 implies completion, perfection.
- B. Because all the fullness dwells in Christ and because we have been put into Him, we have been made full, filled with the divine riches—1 Cor. 1:30; Eph. 3:8:
 - All those who believe in Christ have been put into Christ; therefore, we are identified with Him and are one with Him—Gal. 3:27; 2 Cor. 5:17.
 - We the believers have been put into the all-inclusive, extensive Christ, identified with Him, and joined to Him as our Husband; hence, we are one with Him—Col. 1:28; Rom. 7:2-4; 1 Cor. 6:17.
 - Because we are one with Christ, we partake of all that He has accomplished, obtained, and attained; we inherit all that Christ has experienced and passed through, receiving all that He is and has.
 - All that He has passed through is now our history, and all that He has obtained and attained is our inheritance.
 - The result is that all that He is and all that He has belong to us, and all that He has experienced has become our history—Col. 2:11-13; 3:1.
- C. We need to have a full realization of what we have in Christ and to exercise faith to partake of all that is ours in Christ—Eph. 3:17.
- D. Because this fullness is all-inclusive, it accomplishes everything for us, it fully satisfies and supplies us, and it makes us full, perfect, and complete—Col. 2:9.
- E. We have the all-inclusive, inexhaustible fullness that dwells in Christ bodily, and in Him we are made full—Eph. 3:8; Col. 2:9-10.

- I. In the Bible a mystery refers not only to things that are hidden and unknown but also to things that are hidden in God's heart; this is the principle concerning the mysteries mentioned in the Bible
- II. Colossians 2:2 says, "The mystery of God, Christ"; the mystery of God is manifested in Christ, so Christ is the mystery of God
- III. There are five great mysteries in the Bible
 - These mysteries are: ①the mystery of the universe is God, the meaning and purpose of the universe; ②the mystery of man is God also; ③the mystery of God is Christ; ④the mystery of Christ is the church; ⑤the mystery of the church is the organism of Christ, the Body of Christ as the enlargement of Christ.. [Col. 2:2] ...unto the full knowledge of the mystery of God, Christ. [Col. 4:3] ...to speak the mystery of Christ...
- IV. In Ephesians mystery is a crucial word
 - The eternal God's mystery is His hidden purpose, and with this mystery there is an economy—the economy of the mystery. This mystery is unveiled in our mingled spirit as revelation. Christ is a mystery, and the church, as the Body of Christ to express Him, is the mystery of Christ. Christ and the church as one spirit are the great mystery. [Eph. 1:9] Making known to us the mystery of His will according to His good pleasure, which He purposed in Himself. [Eph. 3:4] By which, in reading it, you can perceive my understanding in the mystery of Christ. [Eph. 5:32] This mystery is great, but I speak with regard to Christ and the church.
- V. The all-inclusive Christ is the mystery of God
 - God Himself is a mystery, something incomprehensible and inexplicable, and the all-inclusive, extensive Christ is the mystery of this mystery. Christ is the definition, explanation, and expression of God—the Word of God. He is the mysterious story, the history of the infinite and eternal God. God's history refers to the process through which He passed in Christ so that He may enter into us, and we may be brought into Him; this process includes incarnation, human living, crucifixion, resurrection, ascension, glorification, and enthronement. [John 1:1] In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. [John 1:14] And the Word became flesh and tabernacled among us..., full of grace and reality.
 - God is the unique spiritual source of wisdom (related to our spirit) and knowledge (related to our mind) of the divine economy concerning Christ and the church, and all the "stories" of God. All the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hidden in the all-inclusive, extensive Christ as the mystery of God. [Col. 2:3] In whom all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hidden. [Eph. 1:17] That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you a spirit of wisdom and revelation in the full knowledge of Him.
- VI. As the mystery of God, Christ is the embodiment of the fullness of the Godhead
 - The word Godhead in Col. 2:9 refers to deity and strongly indicates the deity of Christ, comprises the Father, the Son, and the Spirit. The fullness of the Godhead must be the fullness of the Father, the Son, and the Spirit. For Christ to be the embodiment of the fullness of the Godhead means that before Christ's incarnation the fullness of the Godhead dwelt in Christ as the eternal Word, but after His incarnation, clothed with a human body, the fullness of the Godhead began to dwell in Him in a bodily way, and in His glorified body now and forever it dwells. Fullness also refers to what dwells in Christ is not only the riches of the Godhead but the overflow of the riches of what God is, the expression of the Godhead. The Godhead is expressed both in the old creation, the universe, and in the new creation, the church. When the Son of God was incarnated as a man, with Him was the fullness of God (the riches of grace in God), and of this fullness (the fullness of grace in Christ Jesus) we have all received; beginning from the time we are saved, we may receive grace upon grace like the rolling waves of the sea that come in wave upon wave without ceasing. [Col. 2:9] For in Him dwells all the fullness of the Godhead bodily. [John 1:16] For of His fullness we have all received, and grace upon grace.
- VII. As believers in Christ, we are made full in Christ, in whom all the fullness of the Godhead dwells bodily
 - Because all the fullness dwells in the all-inclusive, extensive Christ bodily and we who believe in Christ have been put into Him, identified with Him, and joined to Him as our Husband; hence, we are one with Him; we can partake of all that He has accomplished, obtained, and attained as our inheritance; all that He has experienced and passed through is now our history. We need to have a full realization of what we have in the all-inclusive, inexhaustible fullness that dwells in Christ bodily, and need to exercise our faith to partake of all that is ours in Christ. Because this fullness is all-inclusive, it accomplishes everything for us, it fully satisfies and supplies us, and it makes us full, perfect, and complete. [Col. 2:10] And you have been made full in Him, who is the Head of all rule and authority.

As the mystery of God, Christ also is both the embodiment of God and the life-giving Spirit. In order to know Christ in reality as the embodiment of God, we need to experience Him as the life-giving Spirit. The reality of Christ as the embodiment of God is in Christ as the life-giving Spirit. As the mystery of God, Christ is not only the embodiment of the fullness of God but also the life-giving Spirit dwelling in our spirit to be one spirit with us. We should tell the Lord, “I care only for You as the embodiment of God and as the life-giving Spirit in my spirit. Because You are so real, living, and practical in my spirit, I can live by You and with You. Lord, my only desire is to experience You in this way.”

<Excerpts from “The Conclusion of the New Testament Experiencing and Enjoying Christ (4)”, Msg. 354, “Experiencing and Enjoying Christ in the epistles (60)”>

In Ephesians 3:8 Paul speaks of the unsearchable riches of Christ. We are more than billionaires because the riches we have are greater than can be counted. We simply have no idea what vast riches we possess in Christ. Often we have prayed, “Lord, I am poor and pitiful.” But not many have prayed in this way: “Lord, I thank You that I am rich, complete, and full. Lord Jesus, because I am in You, I am richer than the wealthiest billionaire. I am short of nothing.” I hope that after reading this message, you will begin to pray in this way. Tell the Lord, the angels, and even the demons that you are richer than any earthly billionaire because you are in the Christ whose riches are unsearchable.
